DELEGATES OF RAIL WORKERS APPROVE MEN'S STRIKE VOTE

Canadian Transportation Systems Notified of Montreal Conference Result

No Date for Country-wide Strike Yet Set; Efforts to Avoid Break

Montreal, Nov. 25.—The action of the membership of the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen in Canada in voting to strike to secure an increase in wages was fully endorsed at a meeting of representatives of both unions here to-day. The endorsement came after more than 300 representatives of the unions throughout Canada had conferred on the matter both yesterday and part of to-day.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, S. N. Berry, senior vice-president of the Order of Railway Conductors, acting as spokesman for the men, made the following announcement: "The full committee of the Order of Conductors and Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen have endorsed the action of their membership in voting for a peaceful withdrawal from the railroad services unless a satisfactory settlement can otherwise be secured."

"The officials of the railroads and the Department of Labor have been so notified."

Mr. Berry stated no date had been decided upon when the men would be asked to quit work. He refused to discuss the matter and stated this was a matter for the representatives to decide.

He stated, however, that the committee hoped to arrive at a decision by to-morrow, but that it might possibly be delayed, pending action by the railroads of Canada.

It is believed the men will await the outcome of the wage award to men in similar positions on United States lines.

LEADER'S STATEMENT

Montreal, Nov. 25.—That the international officers of the Order of Railway Conductors were leaving it entirely in the hands of the Canadian membership to make their own decision, unbiased and unfettered, in the railway crisis which may result in 15,000 conductors and trainmen on the lines in Canada refusing notification to cease work, that their officers were in Montreal merely to advise and counsel and that if, as a last resource, the men should proceed to extreme measures, they would, as members of an international organization, get exactly the same support as United States workers would receive, was the purport of a statement made in an interview by L. E. Sheppard, international president of the Order of Railway Conductors, who arrived in Montreal to-day.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Mr. Sheppard will sit in at the conference of the representatives of the conductors and trainmen which is deciding the course to be taken, now that the men from coast to coast have registered an overwhelming majority in favor of rejecting the award of the board of conciliation recommending no wage increase.

HOPE TO AVOID CONFLICT

Questioned as to his view of the immediate outlook and whether he thought a strike was imminent, the president of the railway conductors said:

"While negotiations are going on, we do not think it wise to advertise any differences as we do not wish to alarm the public. As to the possibility of a strike, that is always a possibility at any time, because the organization is a protective labor association. But, our organization will do everything possible in this case to avoid conflict. Unfortunately, when railroad men fall out with the employers it inconveniences the public and therefore they refrain from resorting to extremes until every other possible avenue has been tried."

"The men have a very patient," he added, "and they are hopeful the employers will find a way to increase their compensation and approve their request."

Northern Indian Sentenced to Death

Prince Rupert, Nov. 25.—After a two-hour deliberation the jury heard the charge of murder laid against Joseph Sankey, half-breed Indian, in connection with the death of Loretta Chisholm, a school teacher of Port Essington, late last night found him guilty. Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald immediately sentenced Sankey to be hanged February 16 next.

Miss Chisholm's body was found last May in the waters near Port Essington, south of Prince Rupert, where she had apparently been the victim of a brutal attack while out for a walk.

Seventy-one Are Hurt On Rail Lines In England

London, Nov. 25.—Seventy-one persons were injured to-day in two railway collisions in England, one near London and the other near South-end, caused by a dense fog.

The mist rolled in last night and thickened this morning until, in London, it was possible to see only a few feet. Street traffic was greatly impeded and there were numerous minor accidents.

B.C. AGRICULTURE WILL SET NEW HIGH RECORD THIS YEAR

British Columbia's agricultural production for 1926 will set a new high record of about $69,000,000 and $70,000,000, Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, announced to-day.

This will mark another big decrease in the proportion of imported agricultural products, including tropical and other foreign fruits used here, compared with the total of home production.

Figures issued by Mr. Barrow since statistics on agricultural production here were kept, starting with 1892, show how the proportion in favor of the home producer has been climbing and increased most rapidly since 1916.

The figures are:

	Home Production.	Imports.
1892	$ 1,965,402	$ 2,659,698
1916	32,182,915	17,199,622
1925	65,153,513	19,575,516

POSSE FINDS NO TRACE OF SLAYER LOST IN FOREST

Bloodhounds Fail to Lead Officers Searching Murderer to Quarry

O. E. McMann, who is sought for the murder of George Michie, remains lost to the law. Since Saturday morning the most expert of the north country's trackers have combed the woods north and west of Ladysmith in a hope of finding some trace of the killer.

Since the echo of the rifle shot which slew Michie died away, logger-friends of the dead man have searched the territory over a fifteen-mile radius. For the last two days bloodhounds have been working on the trail of the slayer.

Constable Jacklin, returning from the North this morning, stated that loggers and residents of the country in which McMann may be in hiding are going about in terror. In the woods, he says, wherever a party of loggers is to be found, there are always weapons handy, for many of the men fear that McMann may come back and "get" them as he promised he would "get" Michie and E. Jones and Vincent Massey.

The bloodhounds have failed to lead the posse to McMann's retreat or the corpse which many feel may be lying in the brush into which he disappeared on Saturday.

"Whatever the case may be," said Inspector T. W. S. Parsons, of B.C. Police headquarters here this morning, "McMann has got the Namsine district terrified. It is not often there is a suspicion of a murdered man running around through the woods with a rifle, looking for someone to shoot. The very uncertainty of things is trying on the nerves of those who seek the slayer or who are concerned with his fate and whereabouts."

Body Of Man Long Sought Is Identified

Chicago, Nov. 25.—A fourteen-year search for Henry Brandon, son of an English knight, ended last night in the county morgue here when the wide-eyed and two children stood beside the body of a man who died a charity patient in the County Hospital here. Friends had established Brandon's identity and last night was added the word of the woman who had sought him since he disappeared from his home following a long illness fourteen years ago.

Only a few weeks ago, she said, she learned Brandon had been in Chicago most of the fourteen years, during which time she had remarried. She said Brandon was the eldest son of Sir William Brandon of London, for a time in the diplomatic service at Washington. Until five years ago Brandon had held posts as civil engineer and architect, but had been beset by ill health. He died of meningitis.

MEXICAN PESO FALLS IN VALUE

Mexico City, Nov. 25.—Considerable uncertainty has been created in business circles by a further slump in the value of the silver peso, which has been declining for some time. At present 100 pesos, silver, are worth only about $2 or $3 pesos, gold.

The decline in the price of raw silver in London and New York is causing some Mexican mine owners to reduce operations and lay off workmen. It is reported some of them will shut down completely unless the silver situation improves.

SOON TO TAKE UP POST AT WASHINGTON

London, Nov. 25.—King George to-day gave approval of the appointment of Hon. Vincent Massey as first Canadian Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States.

Mr. Massey was appointed to the Washington post by an order-in-council of the Canadian Government on November 10.

Mr. Massey, a visitor in London during the Imperial Conference, is to sail in a few days for Canada. He will shortly proceed to Washington.

Premier King will go to Paris on Saturday and will inspect the Sir Wilfrid Laurier memorial there. He is due to arrive in New York on the morning of December 7, and he will be in Ottawa December 8. He has chosen the New York route, it is said, in order to be present at the opening of Parliament on December 8.

In the course of the session of Parliament at Ottawa, Premier King proposes to make a statement reviewing the work of the Imperial Conference.

New York, Nov. 25.—John J. Rodgers, notorious criminal, sought by the police of many cities, to-day was captured in a tenement house on Third Avenue, the Bronx.

WIDOW ASKS COMPENSATION FROM SHIP LINE AFTER TRAGEDY OFF SKEENA

Vancouver, Nov. 25.—Judgment was reserved by Mr. Justice Martin in the Admiralty Court here on a claim by Mrs. Martha E. Dugland to recover damages from the steamer Catala, owned by the Union Steamships Limited for the loss of her husband, Erik Dugland, who was drowned off the mouth of the Skeena River, July 31, 1925.

A small boat in which Dugland was fishing was run down by the defendant's ship.

An action was brought on behalf of the widow and her two children, Signe Margaret and Erik.

Argument was principally directed to the question whether the Workmen's Compensation Act barred the action. The Workmen's Compensation Board had found the accident had occurred in the course of the man's employment as a fisherman and that right of action by his widow and children had been taken away by the statute.

SEATTLE WOMAN WAS MURDERED

Seattle, Nov. 25.—Mrs. Florence Banks, a wealthy widow, whose body was found hidden in the basement of her Seattle home last night, died of choking, a blow on the head and heart failure, investigators conducting an autopsy declared. Gems valued at $10,000 which she usually wore were missing.

CANADA BIG GAINER IN TRADE BALANCE GRANT HALL FINDS

Vice-President of C.P.R. Here Reports Healthy Growth Over Country

High Wheat Prices Help to Compensate For Weather Damage to Crop

"The best authorities are of the opinion the 1926 wheat crop of the prairie provinces will reach a total of over 400,000,000 bushels," said Grant Hall vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, on his arrival at the Empress Hotel this afternoon on this semi-annual trip of inspection.

"The grade was to some extent," said Mr. Hall, "affected by bad weather during September and October, but the great prices realized have helped to compensate the grower for the deterioration in quality."

Mr. Hall stated that the Canadian Pacific Railway was actively co-operating with other agencies in connection with the encouragement of immigration.

In his concluding remarks Mr. Hall emphasized the fact that practically every eastern visitor who now returned from the west expressed amazement at the rapid growth of the Pacific ports.

"Visitors," said he, "are particularly impressed by the steady increase in exports of wheat and other products through the Pacific ports."

"Business conditions generally throughout Canada must be regarded as satisfactory with the balance of trade with foreign countries swinging more and more in the country's favor, while in practically all sections of the Dominion there is evidence of wholesome, healthy growth."

"The pulp and paper industry is flourishing, while our exports of metals continue to increase in tonnage and value."

"Finally the agricultural industry is in a much more prosperous state than it was two years ago."

Included in Mr. Hall's party are W. A. Black, vice-president and managing director of the Ogilvie Flour Mills Company, D. C. Coleman, president of the Western Lumber, W. H. McWilliams, president of the Canadian Elevator Company, Winnipeg, G. M. Black of Black & Armstrong, Winnipeg, and H. B. Shaw of Winnipeg, and C. A. Cottrell, general superintendent of the British Columbia district of the railway.

Mr. Hall will return to Vancouver on Sunday and will probably leave for the East again on Wednesday, December 1.

HICKS EXPLAINS KING'S NEW TITLE

British Government Assures Ulster Its Constitutional Rights Not Menaced

London, Nov. 25 (Canadian Press Cable).—Sir William Joynson-Hicks, Home Secretary, has issued a statement that the proposed change in the United Kingdom's title on geographical titles, as decided upon by the Imperial Conference, will not affect the constitutional position of Northern Ireland. He explained it is a descriptive title on geographical, not political, lines of the territories of which His Majesty is King and the term "Ireland" like the other terms in the proposed title, has geographical significance only.

The use of the term Ireland in no wise affects the distinction between the Irish Free State and Northern Ireland as geographical entities, says the Home Secretary points out, and all the suggestions of the proposed title giving the Free State Government a descriptive title, are entirely groundless.

Northern Ireland, as before, remains outside of the jurisdiction of the Free State Parliament and Free State Government in respect to all matters not delegated to its own Parliament and Government.

In the change recommended by the Imperial Conference in the King's title, the term "United Kingdom" disappears. The change, it is explained, is necessitated by the Irish Free State becoming a Dominion.

The commission is gathering evidence in the chief western cities of Canada. The plans of the commissioners are to clean up the British Columbia and Prairie end of their work before Christmas.

Bond Deals Are Described at Trial

Toronto, Nov. 25.—W. R. McCo, senior partner of the firm of McCo and Padmore, brokers, on the witness stand here at the trial of Percy D. Ham, who is facing charges of forgery, uttering and false pretences on five counts, testified that a total of more than $13,000,000 worth of bonds were bought by Ham from his firm during 1925 and 1926. More than $2,000,000 of this amount of bonds was not actually delivered at all, but was merely book entries in the accounts, he said.

Counsel for the defence brought out in McCo's evidence that there were a series of bond deals done in the space of a few minutes. Ham had bought from the firm and then resold them at a lower figure, it was testified. For May alone, Ham's losses on this were more than $5,000. "The case is proceeding."

There were 30,000 Master Masons and hundreds of Knights Templar and Shriners here for a parade from the old to the new temple. The Rev. Joseph Fort Newton, pastor of St. Paul's Memorial Church, Philadelphia, was selected to deliver the address.

The dedication of the $7,000,000 structure marks the 100th anniversary of Grand Lodge Masonry in Michigan.

"In the face of her categorical denial," the paper said to-day, "The World regrets the publication."

FIRST KAMLOOPS BALLOT FAILS TO NAME TORY HEAD

Vote on First Division of Conservative Delegates for Leader of Party in British Columbia Was 284 for Ladner, 220 for Taylor, Twenty-eight for Spencer and Thirteen for Davie

By Times Staff Representative

Kamloops, B.C., Nov. 25.—The delegates of the Conservative Party of British Columbia steered into a deadlock on their first ballot on the leadership of the convention here to-day, when neither of the four candidates came near securing the necessary sixty per cent of the total ballot cast. Leon J. Ladner had 284 votes, Senator J. D. Taylor 220, Lieut.-Col. Nelson Spencer twenty-eight, and C. F. Davie, M.P.P. for Cowichan-Newcastle, thirteen. The winning candidate will need 327 votes.

MUCH JOCKEYING

As soon as the first ballot had been taken and the convention adjourned for lunch—the rival managers started to jockey for position in the many ballots which are expected to follow.

While Mr. Ladner's supporters hope his early lead will give him more strength later, Senator Taylor's friends, headed by W. J. Bowser, are enthusiastic over the showing of their candidate, a late entrant in the race. Meanwhile the prospect of a deadlock is encouraging Lieut.-Col. Spencer's group to believe that at least he will slip in between the other two. The candidature of Mr. Davie is not generally regarded as a serious factor. At the last minute the nominations dwindled down to these four men. R. L. Maitland decided not to run.

STRONG HOSTILITY

Strong feeling of hostility still exists between the Bowser and anti-Bowser factions, was apparent on the surface in the convention to-day in the preliminary skirmishes. O. F. Canada Division in morning, Mr. Davies, dragged into the open the inevitable fact—that everyone had been talking about outside the convention when he declared the Conservative Party was split by civil war, and that there was plenty of evidence of it in the convention itself. This statement was approved by many, but blazed by others.

The final choice of the leader may not be completed until to-night at the present rate of progress. Already Mr. Ladner has a majority of twenty-two votes over all opponents on 144 ballots, but this may mean nothing in the end under the sixty per cent rule.

MUCH CONFUSION

Kamloops, B.C., Nov. 25.—The Conservative Party, which met here to select its battle line, secured the end of its convention to-day in more hopeless confusion than ever. With the election of a new Party leader, the party was split into two camps. Against the Senon, a real leader and the man who is finally chosen will be elected because he is somewhat less unpopular than the other candidates. The election goes, the disastrous cleavage which preceded the convention will exist after it, wider than before.

W. J. Bowser, K.C., against whom a powerful wing of the party had charged war to the death, he contended, but no far. All his power—and it represents the one unified force in the convention—is behind the candidature of Senator J. D. Taylor of New Westminster. Against the Senon are ranged the diminished supporters of Leon J. Ladner, backed by a large part of the party's delegation in the Legislature. At this stage it seems certain there will be several other nominees, making the choice by the convention rules a difficult one. R. L. Maitland and Lieut.-Col. Nelson Spencer are expected to be nominated and up to this morning Major-General A. D. McRae, former head of the ill-starred Provincial Party, intended to take the plunge. Last-minute warnings from his friends that he would never be heard of again if he should risk his political future in the stormy waters of the convention persuaded the general, however, that he had better stay on dry land. Mr. Ladner has General McRae's definite assurance that he will keep out.

COMPROMISE SUGGESTION

As the election goes under way the only serious contenders in the opinion of every one were Leon J. Ladner and Senator J. D. Taylor, but the new rule forcing the leader to have a sixty per cent majority of the delegates, a suggestion to provide them an opportunity.

"The party as a whole does not want Mr. Ladner and it does not want Senator Taylor, and it makes no bones about either. The convention, in fact, has reached the crucial election thoroughly disgusted with the events of the last few days and thoroughly discouraged over the prospects for the future."

THANKSGIVING DAY IN UNITED STATES

Poor in Cities Are Remembered in Distribution of Food Delicacies

New York, Nov. 25.—Thanksgiving Day, instituted in the United States more than 200 years ago by the Pilgrims because of a bountiful harvest which staved off possible famine, is being celebrated to-day.

President Coolidge recently appealed to make the day one of praise to God for a year in which the United States had been "blessed among the nations of the Earth."

In the big cities and towns the children are busily engaged in preparing turkey and cranberries, pumpkin pie and other good things that go to make the Thanksgiving repast memorable.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for only 75 cents, all ready for use.

It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair. Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. effect that in my opinion we should pay more attention than has been paid hitherto to the distribution of certified seed within our own Province.

Something less than five per cent of the potatoes grown in British Columbia are grown from certified seed—this surely is not as we would like it to be. The original and primary intention of the Department of Agriculture and this association in first starting the certified seed work, was to improve the standard of commercial potatoes produced within the Province.

PEERLESS BRAND

"We are, I am afraid, getting away somewhat from this intention and although it is good business to develop a sound export trade, in the opinion of your secretary this should be subservient to the home market otherwise our customers to the South of us will be producing a first class commercial potato and our own commercial growers will only be able to offer for sale a second rate article. As a remedy for this and with a view to improving the commercial potato situation, we have had several interviews with wholesalers and retailers in Vancouver and they were strongly in favor of the formation of a commercial potato growers association, which organization would put into the market a commercial grade of potatoes, grown from certified seed, which we intend to christen 'Peerless Brand'—only potatoes grown from certified seed would be accepted and sold under this trade mark or name, and as will be readily seen, this would stimulate the production of certified seed within the Province to a very great extent.

This is the one sure and safe way of carrying into effect the chief purpose for which we started, viz: the improvement of commercial potatoes in British Columbia. I feel that the time has now arrived when the association should launch out and engage a competent man to manage its affairs as well as to undertake the sale of both certified seed and Peerless Potatoes—once the association gets properly going the cost of this work would mean but a slight per cent or per ton deduction from sales made.

PRICES

"As to this year's operations I cannot report that they have been successful. A good deal of the seed produced was not sold as seed and I am of the opinion that this was largely the result of setting the prices too high. A good deal of the seed produced was not sold as seed and I am of the opinion that this was largely the result of setting the prices too high.

"In closing this my report I would add that although I have done my best during the time I have held office that some man with more business ability would have done much better for the association and finally I wish to thank the directors for the support and help they have at all times given me and particularly our president, Mr. Duncan, who has given more of his time and attention to association work than could have been reasonably asked."

MINISTER OF WORKS WILL VISIT SOOKE

Dr. Sutherland Will Be Guest at Meeting in His Honor

Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, will visit Sooke tomorrow, and will be the speaker at a public meeting at the Sooke Hall. Dr. Sutherland will be accompanied by Mrs. Sutherland, and in the afternoon they will be taken on a tour of the district. A delegation from Sooke recently approached the minister to make representations to him for an improved road to meet the requirements of the advancing community and the tour of the district will be made with the object of impressing the minister with the soundness of the request.

Naturalist Seeks Insurance Agent's Pet Northern Owl

J. Nathan Holbrook, naturalist of Portland, is keenly interested in the tiny owl, which flew into the arms of W. E. McIntyre, Mutual Life Insurance agent, as there are no records of its capture.

"I would gather from the press report and Mr. McIntyre's experience, that this is a specimen of the Bubo virginianus, a species commonly known as the dusky horned owl. If such is the case, I would be glad to get in touch with him, as the Oregon State Natural History Society has been desirous of obtaining a live owl of this kind for observation over a period of years as to its habits, particularly regarding the destruction of game and song birds. If he would care to dispose of this specimen, I am sure the society with which I am associated would make you a worth while offer."

MENUS FOR THE FAMILY

By SISTER MARY
Breakfast—Orange juice, cereal, thin cream, soft cooked eggs, crisp bran toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Cream of spinach soup with spinach balls, crisp toast sticks, date and rice pudding, milk, tea.
Dinner—Red snapper with tomato sauce, boiled macaroni, buttered Brussels sprouts, rolled oats bread, lemon jelly with fresh fruit and whipped cream, milk, coffee.
With the exception of the fish sauce, which may be a bit too rich for children, these are dishes served to all members of the average family. No special dishes need be prepared as substitutes because a wholesome varied diet is suggested. The recipe for the dinner fish follows as it is rather out of the ordinary but simple and good.

NEW INDUSTRIES WOULD EMPLOY OVER 5,000

Enormous Additions to B.C. Payrolls Forecasted

It has long been agreed that the coast of British Columbia offers an excellent site for a woolen spinning and weaving plant and a silk spinning mill. Great quantities of raw materials enter the port of Vancouver every year and pass on to the East where they are made into textiles. If such plants were established here, there would be employment for more than 5,000 additional workers, who would draw from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000 in wages and salaries.

But such plants will not establish here unless they are assured of a reasonable share of the home market, providing, of course, that the goods they are keeping the factories and workers busy; they are giving them a fair show when buying requirements; as a result, local production is growing by leaps and bounds; the whole Province is prospering and the people are feeling the benefit.

Buying B.C. Products is more than a mere saying—it carried out to its logical conclusion it means almost as much as the establishment of new industries; it is the finest inducement which can be held out to the prospective investor, capitalist or settler.

Our Heritage—The Empire

Observations Made on a Tour of the British Dominions

By COMMISSIONER D. C. LAMB

Under the title of "Our Heritage—The Empire" Commissioner D. C. Lamb, director of the Migration and Settlement work of the Salvation Army, who within recent months returned from a tour in the Overseas Dominions undertaken at the request of General Booth, and with the "benediction" of the Dominion Government, has returned to the Dominion of British Columbia with a report on the progress of his tour. The report, which was submitted to General Booth on his return, and partly in a paper he read before the Royal Colonial Institute in London.

General Booth writes a foreword to "Our Heritage—The Empire" in which he says, "So far as the British Empire is concerned it seems to me important to remember that, if not to the Dominion of British Columbia, the British Empire should fall to fill the vacant spaces within the Empire with people of British stock, we cannot but have the right of other nations to go in and capture the land."

LAGGARDS IN MIGRATION

Commissioner Lamb, who is regarded as one of the most important authorities on migration and overseas settlement, is at one with this view. In this book he says, "We are not to make the mistake of regarding the British Empire as a mere collection of overseas territories—we do not spend the money devoted to that end, and that is little enough, thereby making the money, $2,000,000 per annum, which was voted by Parliament for the migration of British people to the Dominions has not been drawn upon to the extent it might have been, considering the overcrowding and industrial depression which has existed in Britain for a number of years. He further states that the addition to our population at least 1,000 daily, and to set off this we ought at a conservative estimate to emigrate at least 250,000 persons annually whereas last year we only emigrated 55,395."

THE REMEDY
As a remedy for this state of things Commissioner Lamb suggests a "new and really acute" migration policy in which Dominion statesmen would co-ordinate the training of men for intensive training for land work which would fit inexperienced men to start work on the land overseas.

Mrs. Dumas Says Gas Took Her Breath

"I had gas on the stomach so bad that I could hardly breathe. Everything I ate went right up. After I began taking Adlerika, the gas left me and I ate everything."—Mrs. E. J. Dumas.
The trouble differs from most modern diseases because it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. It gives the system a REAL cleansing, and cleans out old poison which usually causes sour, gassy, stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. Just ONE spoonful stops GAS and relieves that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison, which you cannot see, but which you feel, and which may have long caused trouble. No matter what you have tried for stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists, in Victoria at David Spencer's and other druggists. (Adv't.)

TREASURE FROM THE DEEP

ALONG the coasts of the Maritimes and Newfoundland, on the Great Lakes and the Pacific Coast—wherever the fisherman casts his nets—The Canadian Bank of Commerce follows to serve the fishing industry.

The fishing industry is one of the important phases of Canadian commerce. Last year the returns amounted to $48,000,000. A large proportion of this production was financed by and disposed of through this Bank.

The fisherman obtains his gear, nets and supplies through the Bank's service and deposits the proceeds of his catch when it is sold. Similarly, the service of The Canadian Bank of Commerce is used extensively in the distribution of the product in its fresh, chilled, frozen or canned state.

So through all the various branches of the fishing industry, from the time the fisherman leave for the fishing grounds until the product is ready for consumption, The Canadian Bank of Commerce renders a widespread and necessary service to this important branch of Canadian commerce.

Learn Something About Periods Before Choosing Home Furniture

By JAMES BLAUVELT

The history of furniture is the history of civilization. The household articles with which man has surrounded himself through the ages have reflected his taste and his interests at each period of his progress.

It will always be possible to judge a household by the furniture it gathers around it. Not only because impeccable taste will reflect credit on the home maker, but also because it materially adds to the enjoyment of the home. It is necessary for the mistress of the household to study furniture before she makes her choice.

Architectural line is fundamentally important in furniture. Wherever possible, it must follow to some extent the architectural type of the house itself, and the structure of the room. Harmony of line and color and scale is far more important than a strict adherence to "periods."

KNOW YOUR HISTORY
However, it is best to learn something about the historic periods in furniture before you begin to combine them. The marks which distinguish periods may be seen in the shape of the backs and legs of chairs and tables, in the ornamental detail, in the carving and metal accessories, and in the upholstery and wood.

We know that before the Renaissance there was no upholstery, and furniture was massive and crude and somewhat uncomfortable. Later, came seats and back and ornamental carving were introduced in an effort toward luxury and beauty.

With Louis XIII. velvets and tapestries and damasks came into use for upholstery chairs and couches and for beds. Each successive period is an increasing feeling for beauty and comfort in household goods.

After gaining a general knowledge of periods and tradition, the home maker needs a few practical hints on the choice of individual pieces.

First of all, there is the question of woods. Oak, cherry and cypress came into use in Elizabethan and Jacobean times; walnut, beech and holly were first extensively used between 1660 and 1700; the early American woods were pine, oak, walnut and elm; until 1820, when maple and mahogany from San Domingo were added to the list.

Many women ask: "May we use several woods in the same room?"

Here again, I must plead for variety, rather than monotony. Blended with care, several different woods give far more charm to a room than a "set" of any one material. Walnut is successfully combined with the drier colors of mahogany, with cherry, and even with certain shades of maple.

Styles and materials must be blended intelligently, according to a knowledge of history and of art. Thus, you will not hesitate to use a Chinese lacquered cabinet in a Queen Anne room, if that room has the Queen Anne period actually introduced Chinese furniture into England and Holland, as a result of the opening of the great Oriental trade routes.

A stately Georgian cabinet that serves as bookcase, desk and chest of drawers, especially useful in an apartment or small house, where space must be conserved.

Lacquer may be adapted to many types of rooms, because its rich color and design add piquancy and variety, without interfering with the general scheme.

"Sets" of furniture have, happily, gone the way of many conventional, ugly things. Even dining-rooms are being furnished with miscellaneous pieces, and are benefiting greatly by the innovation.

The arrangement of furniture is almost as important as its selection. Do not overload one side of the room with heavy pieces, leaving the other side almost empty.

Place large articles of furniture in relation to the architectural lines of the room. For example, in a long, narrow room, place your davenport along the long side of the room, rather than crosswise in the center, where it would cut the room in two. Of course, if the room is very large, or almost square, this crosswise placing would be correct.

ANTIQUES—BE CAREFUL
A heavy davenport placed against the shorter wall is liable to over-balance the other end of the room.

And now about antiques! Do not fall into the snare that unscrupulous dealers are setting daily for buyers everywhere. Remember that only a fraction of the "antiques" sold deserve the name, and that it takes an expert to distinguish the real from the spurious.

Good reproductions, however, are to be desired. In fact, I consider a good reproduction far superior to an original, unless the original is in a state of exceptionally good preservation, or is a family heirloom, in which latter case, of course, its sentimental value is incalculable.

Conviction Of Indian Quashed

Vancouver, Nov. 25.—On the ground that Emma Grammer, Village Island Indian, was not in necessary circumstances, Chief Justice Hunter in Supreme Court here yesterday quashed a conviction by Magistrate H. O. Alexander of Dan Cranmer, Indian of Alert Bay, for failing to support his wife.

The Chief Justice did not find it necessary to consider the question whether a marriage according to Indian custom was a valid marriage. The Indian ceremony was not sufficient, according to the husband, who urged it did not comply with the law of the Province.

Evidence showed that in the past fifteen months Emma had had $597, a house to live in and moneys which she had earned.

The Chief Justice decided that to succeed in a prosecution of the kind under the criminal code the wife must prove she was destitute, and he concluded she was not.

REGRET EXPRESSED AT KRASSIN'S DEATH

London, Nov. 25.—Sir Austen Chamberlain yesterday expressed regret at the death of Leonid Krassin, Russian Soviet Charge d'Affaires in London.

Chamberlain's sentiment, expressed before the House of Commons, received audible approval from the members. The Foreign Secretary's remarks were made in connection with a question submitted to him before M. Krassin's death was known, concerning alleged Russian propaganda.

Chamberlain said the Soviet propaganda against British interests was the principal obstacle to improvement in the relations between the two countries.

Great Reindeer Industry in Far North Is Urged

Vancouver, Nov. 25.—Establishment of a great Government reserve, embracing the 500,000 or 600,000 square miles of the Canadian Arctic, for the dual purpose of protecting the Eskimo population from extinction by contact with the white man's civilization and developing the immense potential resources of the misnamed "Barren Lands" was advocated by Captain Henry Toke Munn, noted explorer, in an address before the Vancouver Canadian Club at a luncheon yesterday at noon.

Captain Munn emphasized the importance of reindeer production as a source of food and clothing supply, pointing out by comparison with progress already made in Alaska that a gigantic industry could be established at comparatively small expense in a country at present almost wholly valueless to Canada.

Reindeer General V. W. Gullum, moving a vote of thanks to the speaker, described Captain Munn as "the prophet of the North" and expressed the belief the time had arrived when the trend of development in Canada, having extended westward to the Pacific Ocean, might now, with good results, go northward.

NO CHANGES FOR ULSTER UNDER NEW TITLE OF THE KING

London, Nov. 25.—The British Government, it is understood in Chamberlain's statement, has assured Premier Sir James Craig of Ulster that the status of Northern Ireland and its relations with the Irish Free State and the British Government will not be altered in consequence of the change in the King's title.

A Belfast dispatch said Premier Craig and two members of his Cabinet had gone to London to make representations concerning Ulster's position under the proposed change in the title of the King. The new title, framed by the Imperial Conference, mentions Ireland as a whole, whereas the dispatch said the Ulsterites wanted a designation showing Ulster and the Free State were separate.

MR. GUTHRIE IS UNEASY

HON. HUGH GUTHRIE, CONSERVATIVE House Leader, has issued a statement in which he says that his first impression upon reading the report of the Imperial Conference was one of disappointment. But it is not a simple matter to reconcile his apparent uneasiness with his opinion that the declaration of policy made in London contains nothing really new, nothing more than the Dominions have actually enjoyed for many years. It is also interesting to observe that he has not yet had time to give more than hurried consideration to the report, and that under the circumstances "it would be idle for one who had not been permitted to hear or to read the proceedings of the Conference to form any definite opinion on the various matters which are dealt with in the report."

It will be as well to bear in mind that the report to which Mr. Guthrie refers is the product of the combined opinions of the leading statesmen of the British Empire. Members of the Baldwin Government, Prime Ministers and members of all the Dominion governments, have given its contents undivided attention for many weeks. It is a document which has been approved by all the delegates. Practically the whole of the press of the Empire has approved it. Not a few foreign newspapers have paid tribute to the Empire's method of doing business, and they allude to the new strength which it must acquire by the practical course taken at this Conference. Surely Mr. Guthrie does not feel that because Mr. Mackenzie King was Canada's chief delegate the report is disappointing.

No doubt after Mr. Guthrie has considered his statement in its relationship to the political history of Canada since the war, and the part he and his party have played in the making of it, he will realize that his views have undergone a change. For instance, why should he become alarmed because the Conference report clearly establishes the rights and privileges of the Dominions in respect of treaty-making when Canada, as one of the self-governing nations in the British Commonwealth, signed the Treaty of Versailles and the Covenant of the League of Nations? This Dominion was represented at the Peace Conference by Sir Robert Borden, then Prime Minister of Canada and the head of a Government of which Mr. Guthrie was a member. The present leader of the Conservative Party in the House of Commons could have objected to the part Canada took on that memorable occasion if he had had any qualms about the future. But he was silent.

It is not necessary, however, to dip so far into history to remind Mr. Guthrie that the statement which he has just made public is hardly reconcilable with his own and his party's previous attitude to the subject matter of the Conference report in respect of Canada's liberty of action in international dealings. He will recall that Mr. Mackenzie King introduced a resolution in the House of Commons last June for the purpose of obtaining the opinion of Parliament on this very question. That resolution, which obviously was intended to constitute an instruction to Canada's delegates to the Imperial Conference, was unanimously approved—and there was no objection from Mr. Guthrie. In respect of the negotiation of treaties, it was clearly set forth in its terms that "it is desirable that no treaty should be negotiated by any of the governments of the Empire without due consideration of its possible effect on other parts of the Empire, or, if circumstances so demand, on the Empire as a whole." Dealing with treaty-signing, the resolution concluded as follows: "As regards treaties negotiated at international conferences, the existing practice of signature by plenipotentiaries on behalf of all the governments of the Empire represented at the conference should be continued, and the full powers should be in the form employed at Paris and Washington."

The report of the Imperial Conference confirms this policy—to which Mr. Guthrie offered no objection last June.

It is again rather difficult to reconcile Mr. Guthrie's uneasiness over the Conference report with that part of the Conservative Party's platform which pledges it to the policy of holding a general election to find out whether the people of Canada would approve the dispatch of troops from these shores to assist the Empire "if ever the time should come when the spectre of 1914 should again appear." Mr. Meighen pronounced this policy at Hamilton and repeated it in other parts of the country. Does Mr. Guthrie, as the nominal head of the Conservative Party, propose to retain it and perpetuate it? Now that there is no election in sight he might tell us what he thinks about it, how he can still support it, and yet feel so nervous about the treaty-making powers which the Conference report approved.

WAR ECONOMICS

EXPERIENCING A REMINDER OF THE horror of war by attending the Armistice Day service in Vancouver, a School Trustee of Burnaby writes to the press of the Mainland and wonders why it is that, while we all deplore armed conflict, we do not rise up in our strength to put an end to it. For instance, he wants to know why the schools are not used "to plant anti-war seed in the eager and hungry minds of the young—the most fruitful of fields." He sees these minds in the early future in control of the world's business; but complains that so far as he knows there is no curriculum that includes a course on "war economics."

The point is well taken. The adult population of to-day has made up its mind that it will have nothing to do with war again. But that resolve is by no means enough to prevent armed conflict. The school population of to-day knew little or nothing about the Great War and its effect upon human kind. It is useless to suppose that it could absorb the point of view of the older peoples of the world by mere family discussions with scarcely any tangible trace of the agony of ten years ago visible to it. On the other hand, the youth of to-day is no different from the youth of twenty years ago. It has its playground battles. Inherent in its mind is the ancient formula for the settlement of disputes. What is to prevent the development of this idea unless there shall be some counteracting influence such as the Burnaby School Trustee recommends?

Those attending Armistice services, the people who really know that the Great War has imposed a burden of suffering on the peoples of the world from which they will not escape for many years, can render a fine service to the rising generation if it will insist upon the teaching of the gospel which proves that war destroys everything and settles nothing. The most genuine tribute which it is possible to pay to the memory of those who gave their lives during the agonizing war years is to work for peace through every agency available. Active support of the aims and objects of the League of Nations is something which everybody may give. It is worth more than all the public display in the world. It is the best way to make sure that millions of lives were not sacrificed in vain.

DIFFICULT TO SATISFY

OUR MORNING CONTEMPORARY DISCUSSES the Imperial Conference and the strike of the coal miners in Great Britain and finally reaches the prospect of a railway tie-up in this country. At this point it notes that the Dominion Government is about to give the matter its most serious consideration, but concludes by saying that "the members of the Government who have been abroad discussing Imperial problems would be better employed at home discussing something that may develop into a most grave domestic problem."

The implication in the comment to which we make reference, is that the morning paper looks with disfavor upon Canadian participation in the discussions in which the members of the British Government and the representatives of all the other Dominions have taken part during the last few weeks. What would it have said if Mr. Mackenzie King had not gone to London, if he had remained at home to attend to the business which demanded attention after the general election, if he had disappointed all the other Dominions by his absence from the Conference? Much would have been made of that.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BAD FOR DEMOCRACY
From The Westminster Gazette

Democracy has enormous merits for civilized and self-respecting peoples, but it will not stand many demagogues and more than any other system it needs men who will shoulder responsibility and face the consequences. We are not pessimists, but the pleas from people who have failed to instruct, and of politicians generally that they must commit follies when something called public opinion demands them, are undoubtedly among the bad signs of these times.

Queer Quirks of Nature

By ARTHUR N. PACK

It is the present custom to regard all hawks as destructive, and birds to be destroyed whenever possible. This practice is founded mainly on prejudice, based on the fact that a few of the species live mainly on smaller birds.

General condemnation of hawks is unjust. A few hawks are destructive; some have habits that are mainly beneficial, and some are entirely friendly to man from their constant destruction of man's rodent enemies. All species are interesting in many ways.

Among the more interesting and beneficial species, the red-shouldered hawk stands high in the list. He should be called the singing hawk, especially in the nesting season, for singing is then his most characteristic attribute.

It is his custom to return each spring to the scene of his last year's nesting, usually some grove of lofty trees commanding a fruitful hunting ground. His wooing is no commonplace affair. High in the air he circles, uttering his screaming notes, some of which are so like those of the bluejay that the less discerning of that tribe must often be deceived.

Suddenly he swoops toward earth, now carrying his repertoire with a melody of music. Again he mounts and circles and flies and suddenly perches beside the home of last year, his wings a-flutter, his throat tremulous with his serenade. What lady could resist such art?

'IN THE LONG RUN'

'IN THE LONG RUN'

When something does not compare favorably with similar things over a short period of time, but over a longer period shows more enduring qualities, we often say it is "best in the long run." It is said both of humans and of their creations, and is adapted from the running race, where a sprinter may have all the advantage if the race is short, while a slower man might beat him easily in the longer run.

BOWSER EXPLAINED EXIT FROM POLITICS

Told Conservatives Best for Party He Drop From Leadership Contest

Former Premier of Province Delivered His Valedictory at Kamloops

By Times Staff Representative.
Kamloops, B.C., Nov. 25.—W. J. Bowser, K.C., in whose nostrils politics has been the breath of life for thirty-five years, yesterday turned his back forever on the turmoil of public life and wished his successors in the British Columbia Conservative leadership well.

Announcing his withdrawal as a candidate for the leadership of the party in the Province, Mr. Bowser was given an ovation by the delegates at the convention here.

"You will recall that at the last provincial convention of our party I was elected leader," said Mr. Bowser, addressing the convention with the applause and cheering had died down.

"In 1924 I was defeated in Vancouver, which I had represented for twenty-one years, the people showing emphatically they did not want me to represent them longer. Since then I have not been functioning as Conservative leader except that I did my bit in the Federal campaign of 1925 and 1926, when I went as far as I could in assisting the candidates of our party."

GAVE RESIGNATION

"Now, having been elected as your leader in 1922, I come before you in 1926 to tender you my resignation from the leadership," he said in a silence as the delegates waited to hear how the former chief would surrender.

"I next come to my own future," he went on. "It is no secret my name has been mentioned and that I have a large number of delegates here who would like to see me elected again. Since I have come to Kamloops I have thought these matters over not only from my own standpoint, but from the standpoint of the best interests of the party, and I have sought the advice of my friends on what I should do."

PARTY FIRST

"My friends have told me I could carry the convention with a majority. Whether this is true or not is not for me to say. I have never shown the white feather in the face of the enemy, but at this time I feel I should put the cause of the party before my own personal ambition. I have decided there has been so much defeat over my candidature that it would not be to the advantage of the party to let my name go before the convention."

"As an old party man, as a worker longer standing than most of you, I do not wish to go down with the stigma on me that I would do anything to disrupt the party. I have come to the conclusion I must retire from the contest for the leadership. I think this will be in the best interests of the party as a whole."

PROMISE FOR FUTURE

"In the future, as in the past, you will find I shall always ready to do whatever I can to advance the cause of the Conservative Party."

"The party is bigger than any man and it would be a small man indeed who would not put aside his own ambitions for the sake of his party. It will be better for the unity of the party that I should retire, and this may be considered as my political valedictory."

As he passed, the delegates cheered and sang, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

PARTY TOO STRICT

Looking back over his experience as Conservative leader, Mr. Bowser said he felt the party perhaps had been too strict, too rigorous with the people of the country. The party, he thought, might have been too energetic in exacting its pound of flesh from interests like the irrigators of the Province, whose demands for relief from Provincial Government burdens should be considered.

"There should be a re-casting of these conditions to bring down the rates on irrigation to a reasonable figure so the man tilling the soil can make a living," he urged.

OTHER INDUSTRIES

This advice, he said, should apply to the mining and timber industries of the Province.

"We should consider these matters on a fair and equitable basis, on a basis of life and let live," he urged. "If you do that you are going to have a prosperous people."

The first duty of the Conservative Party in office, he said, should be to stabilize conditions here, and in this connection he deprecated too frequent referenda to decide public issues rather than decisions by responsible governments.

"If you are strong, virile, with a strict and steadfast purpose, the people will support you," he declared.

Mr. Bowser urged that "the new Conservative Government" should reduce taxation and thus encourage capital to come in and develop the resources of the Province. To-day, he said, capital was being scared away from the Province.

"The Conservative administration must be strong, virile, and it must be settled," he said. "And to carry through a policy of that sort you must have a strong, virile leadership to put it into effect."

SPOKE OF FRIENDSHIPS

"For thirty-five years I have been in the turmoil of politics and now I am disappearing out of the picture. But there is one thing you can not rob me of—those great, strong personal friendships which I have made and about which I think you will feel as I do until one or the other of us is removed from this world."

"I have made enemies of a political nature, but I hope not of a personal nature," he said as the first evidence of emotion crept into his speech.

"I only want to say in conclusion by way of good-bye that I will always think of these relationships and hope they will continue."

"I want to thank the delegates who came here to vote for me. I will never forget their loyalty to me and I can only say the present friendship will remain between us until time shall be no more."

After Mr. Bowser had sat down there was a prolonged outburst of applause and cheers.

FOR HIS PARTY

When silence was restored Chairman R. L. Mathland paid a last tribute to Mr. Bowser.

"He has come here displaying the highest possible ideal in public life," he said. "He puts aside his personal love for politics—and I know he has it—in the interests of the party he has served for thirty-five years."

As the meeting broke up Mr. Bowser stood at the foot of the dais and received the personal greeting of hundreds of friends who trooped by to shake his hand and mutter a few words of farewell.

Gasoline Cut in Britain May Start Price War

Reduction By Combine Companies Seen As Move to Regain Business

London, Nov. 25.—Price of gasoline, through pumps in Britain has been reduced three cents a gallon by the combine companies. The same reduction is effective in the case of gasoline supplied in cans in London and the home counties, for the rest of the country the reduction in can petrol is two cents. The independent companies have made a similar reduction.

The eight concerns which are known as the combine and which supply about 80 per cent. of gasoline used in Britain are: Anglo-American Oil Co., British Petroleum, National Benzole Co., Redline Motor Spirit Co., Shell-Mex., and Scottish Oil Agency.

It is officially stated by the combine that the reduction is due to the large increase in deliveries through pumps, which reduces the cost of distribution by the companies and costs of handling by retailers.

Trade circles, however, say it is an effort to recapture business which has gone to independent companies. This opinion is strengthened by the fact that combine companies are offering a bonus of a cent a gallon to retailers who undertake to sell only their gasoline. The independent companies always have sold gasoline at prices below those of the combine, and they are getting an increasing amount of business. Gasoline sales of Russian Oil Products, for example, are said to have totaled $69,000,000 last year.

W. L. Heath, an official of the Blue Bird Motor Co., one of the leading independent companies, said the company regarded the action of the combine as a declaration of war and was prepared to meet it.

"It is going to be a hard fight," he said, "but we are not going to be put out of business. Fortunately for us a great number of distributors are refusing to accept the combine's offers."

"Our business is an entirely new one—having existed only since the war. As in the United States, where the independents now supply about 60 per cent. of gasoline consumed, the business of the independent companies is growing steadily. The combine cannot control our supplies; but they can make it unprofitable for us to distribute if they are prepared to lose large amounts of money. If that position comes about, it would lose us to its low and let the combine lay all the money it is prepared to lose, and then to restart and recoup ourselves for loss of business."

Do You Know How to Buy "B" Batteries

Out of the multitude of "do's" and "don'ts" which tend to confuse the radio owner, three simple rules for buying "B" Batteries may be followed with confidence born out of the experience of the leading engineers of the radio industry and thousands of set owners.

On 1 to 3 tubes—Use Eveready No. 772.

On 4 or more tubes—Use the Heavy Duty "B" battery No. 770.

On all but single tube sets—Use a "C" battery.

When these rules are followed, the No. 772 will last for almost a year, and the No. 770 for about eight months, when listening at the year round average of two hours a day.

Note: In addition to the increased life which an Eveready "C" Battery gives to your "B" batteries, it will add a quality of reception unobtainable without it.

SOLE IMPORTING AGENTS: CHARLES GYDE & SON, MONTREAL

MAN TO BE SENTENCED

Montreal, Nov. 25.—Charles Tapp, former street car conductor, was found guilty yesterday of attempting to murder Rodolphe Corbell, a wealthy coal dealer, by blowing him up with an infernal machine on April 24 last. He will be sentenced later.

By Mr. Justice Wilson. Mr. Justice Wilson pointed out in his charge to the jury that Tapp's motive was to be rid of the husband and to marry Mrs. Corbell, over whom Tapp apparently had great powers, and thus come into Corbell's fortune.

Several new street car lines are being constructed in Saloniki.

Do you Count ~? the Night Hours?

Do you wake frequently? Is lack of sound sleep affecting your nerves and ruining your health?

Don't be a victim of wakeful nights. If you are not sleeping well, try this simple treatment—

Just before "turning in," enjoy a bowl of steaming hot, creamy gruel, made with Robinson's "Patent" Groats.

You can prepare it in a very few minutes and its effect is immediate—delicious flavour to tempt the fickle appetite—nutritive so easily digested that the system relaxes naturally—then the delicious drowsiness that precedes sound, health-restoring slumber.

And while you are enjoying restful sleep, your system is being built up with the proteins and vital elements that it needs.

Try it to-night—and sleep well.

SUCCESSOR OF DAVID LIVINGSTONE VISITS VICTORIA

Rev. A. W. Banfield Will Tell of Life in West Africa

Known for his work on the slave coast of Africa as a worthy successor to the intrepid missionary-explorer, David Livingstone, the Rev. A. W. Banfield, of Lagos, Nigeria, West Africa, will be a visitor in Victoria to-morrow on his tour of Canada under the auspices of the Canadian Bible Society. An at-home at Government House will be given in his honor Friday and Sunday he will speak at St. Andrew's Church in the morning and at First United Church in the evening.

Gripping stories of Mr. and Mrs. Banfield's experiences as missionaries among the negroes of West Africa, of their visits to parts of Africa which few white people have penetrated and graphic descriptions of the colorful lives of the natives of the slave coast will make Mr. Banfield's talks of unusual interest.

TWO BISHOPS

He will tell the interesting story of two bishops of West Africa.

Among a number of Yoruba natives who were rescued from slave hunters by British cruisers on the Slave Coast was Samuel Crowther, afterwards the first negro Bishop. This man, after receiving a Christian education in Sierra Leone, returned with others of his countrymen to introduce the Gospel into his fatherland, and before long missionaries of the C.M.S. followed in his footsteps.

There is now a large and flourishing church included in the Diocese of Western Equatorial Africa, with its own native Bishops and native clergy. Bishop Oluwole is a successor to Bishop Crowther. At six he could read the Bible in Yoruba, and at nine in English.

TRANSLATES SCRIPTURES

Mr. Banfield has translated the scriptures into the Nupe language to further the work of the missionaries among the million Nupe-speaking people of the Upper Niger, West Africa.

SINCE 1816

The Bible Society's enterprise on the West Coast of Africa dates back as far as 1816, when it published St. Matthew's Gospel in Shilluk, a language spoken in Sierra Leone. A new Bible House was erected at Lagos in 1919. The Manitoba and Saskatchewan Auxiliary of the Canadian Bible Society undertook to defray its whole cost, and the money was collected and remitted as a special gift.

This gift to the people of West Africa is suitably recorded on a large tablet placed in the entrance hall.

REV. HENRY KNOX CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF ISLAND BAPTISTS

Association Held Annual Meeting Yesterday; Church Work Discussed

At the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Baptist Association, held last evening in the Douglas Street Baptist Church, Rev. Henry Knox, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, was elected president, succeeding Angus Galbraith, the retiring president. Other officers were chosen as follows: Vice-president, E. M. Straight, First Baptist Church, Victoria; second vice-president, Mrs. Tyson, Douglas Baptist Church; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Cogswell, Emmanuel Baptist Church.

The elections were held at the supper meeting, following the delicious repast served by the ladies of the Douglas Street Church. Angus Galbraith, retiring president, reviewed the progress of the past year and presented future success in the work.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

A conference on young people's work, led by Rev. W. P. Freeman, followed the supper meeting when a great many suggestions for the future activities of this branch were given. Rev. J. Willard Litch also gave an inspiring address on "Evangelism."

The afternoon's proceedings opened with a missionary conference at which Mrs. Angus Galbraith reported for the W.M.S. of the First Baptist Church, and Mrs. George Waites for the Emmanuel Church. Rev. J. Willard Litch gave a comprehensive report of the meeting of the Foreign Mission Board held in Toronto recently.

BROADCASTING SUGGESTED

Rev. W. P. Freeman, director of Sunday School and Young People's work in Alberta and British Columbia, led a round-table conference on Sunday School work in the course of which he advocated more extended teaching of temperance in the Sunday School and more memorizing of the Scriptures.

William Marchant led a discussion on church finance in which many interesting and useful suggestions were made. E. M. Straight opened a discussion as to methods of extending and strengthening the mission churches, and advocated a pastor-at-large to go among the different communities. It was also suggested that the Baptist Church on Vancouver Island use the radio to broadcast services for the benefit of the smaller communities.

NEW CONSERVATIVE PLATFORM CALLS FOR BIG MONEY OUTLAYS

Delegates at B.C. Convention Express Views in Series of Resolutions

Hinchliffe Says Conservatives Will Regret They Approved Some of Schemes

By Times Staff Representative

Kamloops, B.C., Nov. 25.—While demanding drastic economy in government and sweeping reductions in taxation, the Conservative Party of British Columbia, in convention here yesterday, laid down a programme well calculated to result in neither. After asking for abolition of the personal property tax and a reduction in the succession duty tax, the convention demanded government relief for interior irrigators, an enormous expensive road building programme, maternity aid and health insurance schemes which would increase the provincial budget to startling proportions.

LIST OF RESOLUTIONS

In brief the resolutions urged: A Canadian tariff on agricultural products equal to the United States tariff. Re-enactment of the anti-dumping clause of 1921.

Government assistance in the perfecting of co-operative handling of fruit and vegetables.

A seasonal tariff on fruit and vegetables.

Cheaper stumping powder.

Abolition of the personal property tax and the consolidation of Federal and Provincial income tax machinery and reduction of succession duties.

FUR FARMING

Encouragement of fur farming.

Abolition of "cost-plus" contracts.

Encouragement of timber manufacture here and reduction in the raw timber exports.

Investigation of state insurance with a view to its introduction in British Columbia.

Aid for maternity cases.

Commencement of a big programme of road construction in the interior, and the building of a road from the interior to Prince Rupert.

Investigation of irrigation problems with a view to relieving irrigators of government water charges.

HINCHLIFFE'S REMARK

After crowding through this formidable programme in the highly emotional period following W. J. Bowser's valedictory, the convention was somewhat disconcerted to hear Joshua Hinchliffe, M.P.P. for Victoria, remark solemnly: "Well, there have been a lot of resolutions passed here to-day that you're going to be sorry for."

NEW OGDEN POINT FERRY SLIP WILL HAVE FIRST TRIAL

Ferry Canorá Will Be Used to Transport Japanese Oranges

Steam Crane Will Be Brought Over From Port Mann to Handle Switching

With the docking of the American Mail Line steamer President Grant at Ogden Point on December 1 or 2 the new ferry slip constructed at the Government piers, in connection with the lumber assembly plant, will be put into operation for the first time. Definite word was received this morning by W. M. Allan, Victoria agent from L.L. Bates, general freight agent, Seattle, that the Grant would berth at the Government docks.

After the cars are loaded they will be taken out into the yards and then run aboard the car charges. The barge, either the Saanich or Fraser. From Ogden Point the oranges will shipsmen east over the main line of the Canadian National.

The empty refrigerator cars will be brought over to the Ogden Point terminus from Port Mann within the next few days.

Mr. Stuart, general freight agent in Victoria for the C.N.R., stated this morning that all arrangements had been made for the initial operation of the ferry slip, which promises to be a complete success.

Trackage at Ogden Point has been resurfaced so cars can now be run right from the depressed tracks in the freight sheds on to the ferries lying at the new slip.

DRUGS FOR THE KIDNEYS

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation; or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with Lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of trouble, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time. (Advt.)

TITLES UNCHANGED

London, Nov. 25 (By Cable From George Hamblin, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—The Imperial Conference made no change in the title "Governor-General." There was a story current that the title was to be changed from Governor-General to "Governor," but an examination of the official report shows it to be unfounded. The change was made in the title of the Government, not the Governor-General. Thus, the British Government becomes His Majesty's Government of Great Britain and the Canadian Government "His Majesty's Government of Canada." In the section of the report of the Premier's committee on inter-empire relations referring to the status of the Governor-General, the term "Governor-General" is used throughout.

HOHENZOLLERN RECOVERS

Doorn, Holland, Nov. 25.—Wilhelm Hohenzollern, former Kaiser of Germany, is much improved from his severe cold, and it is said to-day he would be allowed to take a walk outdoors on the first sunny day.

LANDSLIDES CAUSE DEATHS IN FRANCE

Twenty-five Persons Known to Have Perished in Region of Alps

Rain and Snowstorms Sweep the Peninsula of Spain

Nice, France, Nov. 25.—Twenty-five persons are known to have perished in landslides in the village of Roque-villiers, in the Alps Maritime Department, due to the recent heavy rainfall. The entire Belvidere mountain is the scene of slips of land, part of the village of Roque-villiers having been evacuated. The total fatalities in the stricken regions have not been ascertained and it is expected a long time will elapse before the exact number is determined. The victims are buried under thousands of tons of earth and would-be rescuers have been compelled to give up their attempts to dig out the bodies in the fear of causing further slides.

Roquevilliers was the worst sufferer, an avalanche of earth, rocks and mud half a mile wide having swept down upon the village with its 1,500 inhabitants. Houses undermined by the overflow from the Vesubie River fell. Others were crushed by the slide.

TROOPS READY
Troops from Nice, which is thirty miles distant from the stricken zone, are being held in readiness for eventualities. Prefect Benedetti of the Alps Maritime Department is on the scene with General Payot, commanding the 39th Division.

Dispatches from Madrid tell of violent rain and snowstorms on the Spanish Peninsula. Shipping at various points has been damaged and floods are threatened in different parts of the country. Snow and ice cover Caen, Galicia and North Leon. Wolves are reported to be killing cattle.

At Vigo the Greek steamship Anrius foundered. The port of Cadix is filled with ships forced by the tempest at sea to seek shelter. The steamer Cape Pola sank off Alicante. The crew was saved.

GROUNDS OF MARRIAGE ANNULMENT PUBLISHED

Rome, Nov. 25.—Annulment of the marriage in 1895 of Consuelo Vanderbilt and the Duke of Marlborough was based on evidence that the young girl, then but seventeen, was torn from her sweetheart and forced into the Marlborough marriage by her mother, now Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont.

The sentence of the Roman Catholic Holy Rota, as made public yesterday, states Consuelo's mother admitted before the examining body she had commanded her daughter to marry the Duke.

The name of Consuelo's sweetheart was given simply as "Rutherford." On one occasion the sentence says, the then Mrs. Vanderbilt, threatened that if Consuelo eloped with Rutherford, she would kill him on the first occasion and would be imprisoned and hanged for the crime, her daughter thus being responsible for the tragedy.

New York, Nov. 25.—Winthrop Rutherford, a descendant of Peter Stuyvesant, last Dutch Governor of New York, was the young American with whom Consuelo Vanderbilt was in love when she married the Duke of Marlborough in 1895, says The New York World.

"The World quotes Winthrop Rutherford as saying, 'some thirty years ago I knew Miss Vanderbilt, and I was one of her great admirers.' Mr. Rutherford is the owner of an 1,000-acre home in New Jersey and another at Aiken, South Carolina, and is landlord likewise of numerous tenements in the East Side of New York.

CHILD LOST LIFE

Saint Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 25.—Evelyn Norman, aged four, was burned to death in her home here while George Hoffman, a neighbor, who had been left by her parents to mind the girl and her brother, lay asleep on a couch a few feet away. Hoffman has since disappeared. It is believed the child was playing with matches and set fire to her clothes.

An eighty-year-old man was recently fined $10 in the court of Limerick, Ireland, for offering dirty eggs for sale.

SENTENCES GIVEN FOR LIQUOR SALES

Vancouver, Nov. 25.—A number of accused persons appeared in the district police court here before Magistrate H. O. Alexander yesterday afternoon on charges of selling liquor.

"Curley" Porter of the Narrows Roadhouse was remanded till November 26. He did not plead. Thomas McGiven, of the Canyon View Hotel, North Vancouver, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 150 or three months imprisonment. Mrs. Banks Jackson, of the Capilano Hotel, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to a fine of $500 or three months imprisonment.

NOMINATION DISPUTE

Toronto, Nov. 25.—Mr. Justice Rose reserved judgment yesterday afternoon on the application for a mandamus directing L. B. Cronk, returning officer, to accept the nomination of L. R. Anglin as a prohibition candidate in the constituency of Addington in the forthcoming general election. The judge intimated his decision would be forthcoming very shortly.

SICK CHILDREN LOVE "CASCARETS" FOR THE BOWELS

Give "Candy Cathartic" for a bad cold, sour stomach, constipation

Get a 10-cent box now. Most of the ills of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach, sluggish liver and constipated bowels. They catch cold easily, become cross, listless, irritable, feverish, restless, tongue coated, don't eat, sleep well, and need a gentle cleansing of the bowels—but don't try to force a nauseating dose of oil into the little one's already sick stomach. Cascarets are gentle, safe, and old-fashioned.

Any child will gladly take Cascarets Candy Cathartic which act gently—never gripe or produce the slightest uneasiness—though they cleanse the little one's system, sweeten the stomach and put the liver and bowels in a pure, healthy condition. Full directions for children and grownups in each package. Mothers can rest easy after giving this gentle, thorough laxative which costs only 10 cents a box at any drug store. (Adv.)

Rangers, With Clean Record, Invade City Of Smoke To-night

New York Has Hard Game; Montreal Play Americans; Ottawa Meet St. Pats

Fredrickson Scores Goal Which Gives Detroit Win Over Chicago Hawks

Toronto, Nov. 25.—The league-leading Montreal Maroons will meet the New York Americans to-night in the Canadian group of the National Hockey League and the game will be watched with interest. The Maroons, world's champions and at present leaders of the Canadian section, will meet with strenuous opposition from the New Yorkers, who are at present in fourth place in the standings.

In the second Canadian game to-night, Ottawa Senators, runners-up last year and second in the league at present, will meet the St. Patricks, of Toronto, who are occupying the cellar position. As yet the Toronto team has shown nothing worthy of being classed as a serious factor in the pennant race, although they have always put up a great battle against the Senators.

The New York Rangers will meet Pittsburgh at the Smoky City in an American group fixture to-night.

The Rangers, Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins are still deadlocked for first place in the Western Division with four points each. Boston and Chicago have both been defeated, whereas the Rangers have two wins to their credit and no losses. The Rangers will have an opportunity to step out in front to-night.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—When Frank Fredrickson, blonde centre player, shot the puck past goalie Lehmman at the Chicago-Coliseum last night he gave the Detroit Cougars their first victory in the National Hockey League. The goal scored by the former Canadian Olympic captain five minutes before the end of the game, was the only counter in a gruelling struggle. Previously the Chicago Black Hawks had won their first two games of the season. The game was marred by roughness, according to Chicago reports.

The game was a very tame affair for two periods. The last period things began to happen with both sides trying desperately to score.

Mickey MacKay, centre for Chicago, played the best hockey. Sheppard, Walker and Fredrickson looked good for Detroit.

Montreal, Nov. 24.—The Canadian-American Hockey League, a newly-formed professional organization with teams located in Quebec, Boston, New Haven, Conn., Providence, R.I., and Springfield, Mass., will make its first bow to the public when the Boston Tigers step on the ice against the Springfield Indians in the former's home arena to-night. This will be the second invasion of the Eastern United States (professionally) by Canada's national game within the last three years, the first expansion being inaugurated by Boston Bruins in 1922.

Toronto, Nov. 25.—Only one game was played in the Canadian Hockey League last night, the Stratford Nationals defeating the London Panthers 7-1. The defeat removes London from the leading position in the league.

No games are scheduled for to-night.

Stratford, Ont., Nov. 25.—London Panthers sustained their first defeat here last night when Stratford defeated them 7-1. The Indians had the first period and the expected change of the tide never set in, though Stratford, at a belated four minutes of the third period, smothered up London's clean score sheet.

STARTS IN WELL

NELSON STEWART
Against Boston on Tuesday Stewart scored his first goal. All goals were responsible for the Montreal Maroons winning. Stewart last year was adjudged the most valuable player in the N.H.L. He is a centre ice man, but plays left defence equally as well. He was on the defence against Victoria in the world's series last Spring and scored four goals. He is a tall rangy player, as hard as nails. He ranks with the best of 'em.

High School Rugby Teams In Deciding Contest To-morrow

Oak Bay and Victoria Will Provide Great Game; Winner Goes to Vancouver

Victoria and Oak Bay High Schools clash to-morrow afternoon to settle their seasonal argument on the rugby field. Their best men will meet in the third game of the Thompson Cup elimination series. Each team has a win to its credit. Victoria defeated their rivals 6-0, three weeks ago, but last week Oak Bay turned the tables.

When the teams meet on Friday at the Victoria High School grounds a great game should result. This year the city champions are to meet the former Canadian Olympic champions, the Thompson Cup, emblematic of the British Columbia Tiger School championship, they are doubly anxious to be its defenders this year, for their men won it last season after one of the most exciting battles in the history of the series.

GOOD CAPTAINS
Oak Bay has a well-trained team, skippered by Rutman, whose ability as a wing three-quarter is exceptional. The team is in the pink of condition and playing good rugby, having attained a high standard of proficiency while training in the last few weeks. The forwards are a little light, but the backs are wiry and fast and tackle well.

Kennedy is the leader of Victoria. He plays full-back and is a deadly tackle. Victoria boasts some splendid forwards and has a heavier pack than Oak Bay. The backs are just about on a par with the opposition, individually, but in team work, when they were last in action, they were lacking.

Our Mail Bag
LOCAL SOCCER
To the Sports Editor.—Being an ardent fan and supporter of soccer football in this city for a number of years, I take exception to Mr. Rance's remarks in last night's issue of The Times. Regarding the mutual agreement and players being held to blame for the poor brand of football this season, I am afraid Mr. Rance has never managed or played the game of soccer. The management are doing their utmost to give the fans the best at their disposal. The players who turn out every Saturday certainly deserve a great deal of credit. The soccer players in Victoria are good sports. Perhaps Mr. Rance would like to know that up to the present time only one minor offence has been dealt with by the board, which goes to prove that the action of the players on the field is beyond criticism.

The game of last Saturday between Esquimalt and the Thistles may have been disappointing to Mr. Rance. The Thistles, in their first season of senior soccer, are doing exceptionally well against players of more experience.

Regarding Mr. Rance's choice of a team for the holiday, I wonder if he is aware that in the city of Victoria these important men are governing soccer. This body is known as the Lower Island Football Association, which I am confident are capable of selecting a representative team to defeat either an up-Island team or the best from the mainland.

DELIGHTS

The Latest Comment on Eastern Hockey

Here is a bright one. On Nov. 4, The Times published a story forecasting a division in the National Hockey League and the creation of the American Hockey League with Frank Patrick as president. Yesterday The Toronto Globe took the Victoria story, word for word, and broadcast it on the wire under its name. The Times was three weeks ahead of the East in the matter. Our morning contemporary used the story this morning.

The former Victoria Cougars at last picked off a game, defeating their former league-mates from Portland by an orphan goal. Detroit had found the going rather tough, while Chicago had two straight wins when they went into last night's game. It was a tight defensive game until Fredrickson slipped through and nailed a goal.

Fredrickson scored his goal against Hughie Lehman, former goalie of Vancouver. "Old Eagle Eye" was one of the hardest goals to score against in the Western League and he seldom scored against him. He found a hole in Hughie's defence at an opportune time last night.

Reports say that Harry Meekling is going good in Detroit. He has been starting as a regular at left wing, but so far has not done any scoring. Meekling has the ability if he can only be consistent. He is a great stick-handler, but he is a habit of slipping off form at critical moments.

Art Duncan has apparently decided to handle the Detroit team from the bench and will let "Hobie" Kitchen play as the third defence man. Halderson and Loughlin are the regular defenders. Duncan played the opening game as a forward, but the three-man defence did not work very well.

Inquiries have been made as to why Russell Oatman's name has not appeared in the Detroit lineup. Oatman injured his knee in a practice and it has not responded to treatment very fast. He is being kept off the ice until the knee is right. There is no use in taking chances this early in the season.

Gordon Fraser opposed his old teammates in Chicago, and he treated the former Cougars with as little respect as he did the opposing players when he was in Victoria. When Fraser began playing with Seattle a few years ago he was razzed here for his hard-checking, but the minute he pulled on a Victoria uniform the fans applauded his vigorous style. Now he is with Chicago, playing against Detroit, and last night he pulled down two penalties.

Pete Muldoon has so many good forwards on his Chicago roster that he is jockeying them about, trying to make the best of them. Last night he used Mickey MacKay at centre ice and Dick Irvin played as a substitute. Babe Dye and Rabbit McVeigh worked on the wings.

Eddie Shore, who gave all signs of becoming a sensational defence player, was apparently benched for the forward ranks. He is too valuable to keep on the bench, yet it seems impossible for him to break up the great line of the Chicago forwards. So Manager Art Ross is trying shore out as a forward. He may make good there. No matter where he plays when on the ice, he has the style and color.

Harry Scott, Gordon Meekling, Alvin Hammond and Billy Keen are the four men who will officiate as referees in the Pacific Hockey League this season. Ben Hoischen, one of Saskatoon owners of the local club comments, "that John Cart has had considerable experience in pro hockey, much more than any of the four mentioned and I can't see why he shouldn't receive preference over other applicants."

Two First Church Teams Will Visit West Road Friday

The Onwegoes from the First United Church and a picked team composed of girls from the same institution will journey to West Saatchi to play the home basketball teams on Friday evening.

The Onwegoes are hitting a very fast goal this year. With the addition of "Steve" Skillings, they have filled a big gap at point. Skillings being one of the best centre men in town at present. Bob Whyte, too, will probably play for them, so they will put a formidable team on the floor. They recently held the First United seniors to a close score.

West Road has had a hard time in winning games this year. They have been on the threshold of victory several times only to lose it in the last few minutes. This week, however, they will play the home team of the Victoria United. The line-ups between the Axioms and the Fidels will be handled in the same way by Stan Jackson and Nesbitt. The Fidels are the British Columbia champions. The Axioms, although in their first year of senior basketball, are going strong. In the Sunday School league last week the Fidels defeated the Axioms.

A new style of refereeing will be ushered in on Saturday. Instead of the games being handled by one man in former years, two men will rule the floor. One man will referee, while the other will take charge of the boundary line and technical fouls. The preliminary game of the season, between the Axioms and the Fidels, will be handled in the same way by Stan Jackson and Nesbitt. The Fidels are the British Columbia champions. The Axioms, although in their first year of senior basketball, are going strong. In the Sunday School league last week the Fidels defeated the Axioms.

HAGEN AT TIME HE BEAT MITCHELL

HIGH SCHOOL FUNNY Victoria Girls Will BOYS WILL STAGE A CIRCUS THIS WEEK

The Victoria High School gymnasium will be the scene of an athletic display and circus on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. The performance will begin at 8 o'clock and will open with a series of stunts and tricks by the circus company.

The Y.M.C.A. will stage a gymnastic feature consisting of mat-work and acrobatics. The circus company will give a crab-walk, and many other acts will be put on. Besides the stunts there will be a show of games such as "The Nipper" and "The Fish Pond" and other amusements of a similar nature.

Pivot Man Of Sound Team Hurt And Will Not Be Able To Play

Seattle Basketball Team Will Find Tough Opposition Here in First United

Victoria basketball fans will be sorry to hear that Wells, the pivot man on the Piper and Tait team, of Seattle, will be unable to accompany his team mates when they invade Victoria on Saturday. During a hard practice Wells fell and injured his ankle. This came as a hard blow to Seattle, as they will have only six men available when they take the floor at the Y.M.C.A. against the First United seniors at the Y.M.C.A. GREAT CROWD WILL WITNESS VARSITY GAME WITH QUEENS

Toronto, Nov. 25.—At 10:30 last night two Varsity supporters, armed with kitchen chairs, strolled along Yonge Street and ransacked a sporting goods store outside of which they sat down. Shortly afterward others formed a line. A crowd of thousands gathered. The line grew. Early this morning, girls, their teeth chattering with the early morning cold, joined the queue. At 4 o'clock the queue was several blocks long and three or four deep. The few remaining tickets for the Varsity game on Saturday were on sale at nine o'clock, and were quickly disposed of.

CARPET BOWLING

The game at Burnside on Tuesday evening between the exponents of the two styles of play was a very close affair. "The Pushers," skipped by J. Leiper, were two points ahead of "The Bowlers," skipped by E. Byng, 12 to 14 being the final result.

Tillicums Defeat Bays 3-0 And Win Wednesday Honors

Brown, Playing Centre for Clubmen, Netted All Three Goals on Fine Shots

Defending Champions Unable to Stand Hot Pace of Younger Team

Hudson's Bay lost the opportunity to win the first half of the Wednesday Soccer League when they went down to defeat at the hands of the Tillicums yesterday by 3-0. The Tillicums played a good game all the way through, and outlasted the Bays by their speed and powerful kicking. The ground at the Royal Athletic Park was a little heavy and slowed the game up a little. The Bays are the present Wednesday League champions.

During the first ten minutes the play was fairly even. Scotty Robinson, the flashy forward of the Bays, had hard luck when he missed a couple of good opportunities. Armstrong handled the ball and the Tillicums were awarded a penalty. The shot from the "spot" was taken by Brown, who scored on a fast drive, which left Gillingham no chance to save. About eight minutes after the goal the Bays' forward, again when Gardiner, of the Bays, made a mistake. The Bays tried hard to even things up but the half time whistle found the clubmen in the lead by two goals.

BAYS TRY HARD

The Bays opened strongly in the second half but experienced more hard luck in front of the goal. McKay and Robinson had a good chance but failed to beat Mathews, playing goal for the Tillicums, who rushed out and saved just in time. Several times the ball was taken down the field by the Bays' forward, but they encountered a stumbling block in the Tillicums fullbacks.

MISS A PENALTY

A short time after a penalty was awarded to the Bays when Fish was tripped in the penalty area. Robinson took the shot but hit the wall and another good chance was lost by the Bays.

During the closing minutes of the game both teams tried to break away and score. Wallace, of the Tillicums, made a fine run and passed to Board, who failed in the goal-mouth. With three minutes to play, the Bays staged a determined assault to save a whitewash. Hocking relieved the pressure at his end and tested Gillingham, who stopped. The ball was kicked off a short time after the final whistle blew.

The former White Sox team, established and won by 37-28. The game was played at the Y.M.C.A., the feature tussle of a four-game programme in the city and district leagues.

WACHTER SHOT WELL
Tommy Wachter's excellent shooting had a lot to do with the victory of the Sons of Canada over the Bays. Tommy netted the ball from all angles, and ran up a total of fourteen points. His offensive play was a feature of the game.

The Sons, playing a fine combination from the start, ran the Bays off their feet during the first few minutes and had points before the latter settled down. The Bays checked hard and slowed up the scoring. Five minutes before the rest interval the Sons held a lead of three points, but the Sons went wild and before the whistle blew for the half had the score 19-10 in their favor.

The Bays gradually cut down the lead of their opponents in the second half, but the Sons had something in reserve and needed some nice baskets. Joe Ross refereed, and the teams were:

"MULHALL'S GREAT CATCH" ON SCREEN AT THE COLUMBIA

Riotous comedy splashed with moments of tense drama feature Lefty Flynn's latest PBO release, "Mulhall's Great Catch," now playing at the Columbia Theatre. The story revolves around the rivalry between a policeman and fireman for the hand of the city belle, each man backed by his respective department. How Lefty as the fireman, after a thrilling rescue and a tense battle with two crooks, wins the girl, is the background on which dozens of screamingly funny situations are planted, and the entire picture is one of the best specimens of entertainment seen here in a long time. Harry Garson directed the film with telling effect, and the heroine, Kathleen Myers, repeated her success in "Str Lumberjack" in the new production. Harry Victor as the policeman and Harry Arros as the fire captain do excellent work, as does the remainder of the cast. Gerald Beaumont, the well-known magazine writer, is the author of the story, which was scenarized by Jefferson Moffitt.

"BRIDE OF THE STORM" ABOUNDS IN ROMANCE, THRILLS AND PATHOS

Romance, thrills, drama, pathos, perfect acting, an exciting story, and splendid direction combine to make "Bride of the Storm," one of the best screen productions of the current season. Dolores Costello is starred in this J. Stuart Blackton production for Warner Bros. at the Playhouse Theatre this week, and which shows the lovely young star worthy of the enthusiastic praise which has been showered upon her since her performance in "The Sea Beast," starring John Barrymore. John Harron, Otto Matteson, Tyrone Power, Sheldon Leeson and Julia Swayne Gordon all give noteworthy performances in important characterizations in this film version of "Maryland," My Maryland, written by James Francis Dwyer and adapted by Marian Constance.

RUTH HAMILTON IN CLEVER COMEDY ROLE IN COLISEUM PLAY

In "The First Year" at the Coliseum, screams of laughter greet Ruth Hamilton who has an hilarious part as a nigger maid. There is fun in the story right through and the audience laughs, but follows sympathetically, the very ordinary and human programme of getting through the first year of married life. Not so easy perhaps, but he does his sound business ability prevailing against all obstacles, which is as it should be as marriage is no doubt a business as well as any other adventure. The demonstration of "The Black Bottom" dance is getting big applause.

MISS RALSTON IS PRETTIEST CO-ED IN RICHARD DIX FILM

Eather Halston, perhaps more than any other actress, is a product of the show business. Since reaching the tender age of two—which by the way, wasn't so long ago—she has been constantly emoting on stage and screen. Yet with all this to serve as a colorful background, the Esther Halston that Hollywood knows is as sweet, natural and lovable as anyone could wish her. The gleam of paint and flash of lights have not affected this blonde beauty. She is still the same old-fashioned girl who first entered her rightful kingdom when "Peter Pan" was flashed on the screen. Since that memorable production, her career has been one triumph after another. Esther was featured in (to name a few), "The Best People," "The Trouble With Wives," "The American Venus," "The Blind Goddess," "The Lucky Devil" and "Womanhand." The last two were

Stories of stage and circus life have reached the screen showing intermittent flashes of actors, dancers, acrobats and magicians. But it remained for Paramount to logically introduce in a picture a complete vaudeville bill. The picture, "You Never Know Women," starring Florence Vidor, is showing at the Capitol Theatre this week. The story, an original by Earnest Vajda, deals primarily with the members of the Balagan Variety Company. It's central figures are the team of "Vera and Norodin," played by Florence Vidor and Clive Brook. On a stage, modeled after the Balagan Theatre in New York, several nationally known vaudeville acts are shown doing their stuff. They include: Fortunello and Cirinelli, famous acrobatic clowns; The Russian Balalaika Orchestra; The Melford Troupe of Risley Wonder Workers; Joe Bonomo, world's perfect strong man; Louis and Freda Berkoff. In addition to the star and those already mentioned, the cast includes Lowell Sherman and El Brendel, two well known stage favorites.

ESQUIMALT SCHOOL CHOR SUBJECT ON TRUSTEES' AGENDA
In addition to the regular business to come before the Board of School Trustees of Esquimalt at the regular monthly meeting next Tuesday, consideration will be given to the Esquimalt school choir. There has been much discussion on the choir in the last few months, and James Elrick, chairman, and the other members of the board have been criticized. There appears to be some misapprehension on the part of local organizations to correct which, Mr. Elrick, on behalf of the trustees, reminds the public

Charlie's Brother Demonstrates That He's Star Comedian in Own Right

By BENE COHN
Whatever may be the future of the films, those phases of the cinema's present which offer the merriest entertainment still come under the spell of the early Mack Sennett influence.

Only the Lubitchean type of comedy, with variations from Mal St. Clair, is different. Thus, in spite of those camera angles, diffusions, expensive backgrounds, innuendoes and story lines that go to make the up-to-date picture, the world premiere of the Warner Brothers' production, "The Better Ole," with Syd Chaplin, combines all the slapstickeries of Sennett vintage. Yet a good time is had by all.

ANOTHER BAIRSFATHER

This brother of the classic Charlie is no mean clown in his own right and in this particular product becomes the Bairsfather character stepped bodily out of the cartoon. Perhaps there is no tougher task set an actor than that of competing with an illustrious relative. Charlie had a good long jump on his brother and by the time Syd had decided to go into pictures it seemed certain that he would have to accept amiably the reflected glory and be pointed to as Charlie Chaplin's brother.

So Syd slipped into the role of his brother's manager. Many tales have gone the rounds concerning the part Syd played in Charlie's success, and it isn't easy to supply an answer.

AN INDIVIDUAL ARTISTRY

It isn't a particularly new story that one day a member of Charlie's company took sick, that Syd was called in, and on the strength of what happened he decided that Charlie or no Charlie he was going in on his own. He may not be a Charlie Chaplin, but it remains that he certainly is a Syd Chaplin, and after his work in "The Better Ole" there is certain to be a more general acknowledgment of his artistry. While the picture itself includes every form of laugh-getter ever tried upon the screen, the antics of Syd himself are flavored with an individuality completely distinctive. The picture, incidentally, serves to introduce the second programme of the Vitaphone, the instrument that will take Al Johnson, Elsie Janis et al, into the farthest reaches of Sharp's Corners, Mich. It is enough of a novelty to still bring plaudits from New-Yorkers, though its orchestrations seem to me to be little improvement over the generally and all organizations particularly that the School Board meetings are open to Esquimalt ratepayers. Those wishing to attend are invited to the next meeting when the school choir will again be under review. The rest of the items on the agenda are principal's report, salaries and accounts, proposed by-law and schedule.

T.B. Veterans Receive Message From President

The Dominion president of the tuberculosis section of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League has forwarded to the local branch the following message: "I want to advise all members of our organization to stand fast and retain their membership in this most essential body. Nothing can be gained by retiring from the T.B. posts in order to enrol into some other ex-service unit which has little or no knowledge of the problems and requirements pertaining to this particular type of war disability. "Every possible safeguard has been adopted to protect our interests in the legion, and we are hoping with the solid backing of that body to ensure the enactment of suitable pensions legislation during the forthcoming session of the Federal Parliament. It must be remembered that we can only accomplish our objective by keeping the old T.V.A. intact."

CRYSTAL GARDEN

A SERIAL STORY

"The Unwilling Adventuress"

By MILDRED BARBOUR

Camilla wished to be sure that every moment of her bridegroom's time was accounted for until the following afternoon, when they would board a ship for America.

"I shall go back to the Ritz and try to get a little sleep, if we're to dispart to-night," he answered her question truthfully.

She was pleased and relieved. There was a sparkle of confidence in her eyes. The certainty of triumph made her look far younger than her years.

In fact, that night when she appeared for the family dinner to which the others of the party agreed with varying degrees of pleasure, she looked every inch a beautiful, desirable woman.

They dined magnificently, lingering long over a perfectly appointed dinner, with wines cooled to just the right temperature, flowers, music, and clever little favors which Camilla had personally selected. Everybody made a determined attempt at gaiety, even Hartley Sr., who, with a wry smile, saw himself accepting the inevitable.

"Now, said Camilla, gaily, as the coffee and liqueurs were taken away, the question is: Where shall we go from here? Who votes for a review?"

"I do!" declared the hypochondriac promptly.

"Howard!" protested his wife, with pained reproval. "You should really be in bed after such an indiscreet meal. A review—one of these scandalous Paris reviews, is far too exciting for proper digestion. I think," she turned to Camilla, "the opera would be the thing to-night. So much more dignified for a wedding party."

Camilla agreed with charming deference.

"But we don't know what's being sung," young Hartley protested. "Never mind. Let's take a chance," cried Camilla, gaily, and led the way to the taxi.

CHAPTER LXIX

It was late when the Hartley party reached the opera. The first act was already under way. They hurried through the deserted foyer, just as a burst of melody reached them through a briefly opened door into the auditorium.

"Oh! Mignon!" cried Camilla, who was well versed in operas. "How lovely! Do hurry," she urged her fiancé.

Hartley hastened to the box office, while the rest of the party made their way ahead of him. The house was almost sold out, but he managed to obtain a box, which had been returned at the last minute.

As he gave his coat and hat into the keeping of an attendant, and turned around, he almost ran into a man. The apology died on his lips. It was Count Romeo da Silva. The two men bowed politely to each other.

Hartley marshaled his party, beset by mingled emotions. What was that chap doing back in Paris? The sight of him brought back poignant thoughts of Doris.

When they were finally settled in the box he couldn't give his attention to the stage. He was straining his eyes through the darkness to see where the Count was seated. Was it possible that Doris could be with him?

Suddenly he heard his father, who was sitting next to him, start, lean forward, and mutter:

"Gad! It's the image of—no, it can't be!"

He saw that his Aunt Ada was leaning forward too, and Camilla's quick gesture betrayed her excitement.

He turned his eyes to the stage to discover the cause of their excitement and his heart leaped.

He found himself looking squarely at Doris, Doris, lovelier and more appealing than ever in her peasant costume, singing the heartbreaking sweet melody that is Mignon's own.

"It—it can't be!" said Camilla. "Hartley was on his feet, but Camilla clutched him.

"Shh. We're disturbing everybody."

RESTORED TO GOOD HEALTH

Mother of Eleven Children Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Her Interesting Experience

Buckingham, Quebec,—"I am the mother of eleven living children, and my baby is five months old. I am only 38 years old and I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and my nerves. I knew of it from my sister, Dame Edouard Bellefeuille of Ramsayville. For five years I was in misery and was always ready to cry. Now I am happy to have good health. My daughter, who is 15 years old, has also taken it and will be happy to recommend it to all young girls."

Dame WILLIAM PARENT, Box 414, Buckingham, Quebec.

Why suffer for years with back-ache, nervousness and other ailments common to women from early life to middle age, when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will give you relief?

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 250,000 replies were received, and 98 out of every 100 reported they were benefited by its use.

(Adv.)

It—it can't be— She fumbled for a programme in the darkness.

Hartley had already found his. A neatly printed slip attached to the cover of the original programme made the announcement that the title role of "Mignon" was being sung by Mademoiselle Elaine Young, the young American, whose sensational triumph had followed her debut on the previous evening when she had understudied Madame Rosetta.

He pointed it out grimly to Camilla.

"Young is her aunt's name, isn't it? And Elaine Vanessa, nee Young, was her mother. Am I right?"

Camilla vouchsafed him a haughty look and turned her attention to the stage.

"That's right, my boy." He took a malicious delight in annoying Camilla. "Go back stage and congratulate her for us. We'll wait till the end of the performance. And by the way, suppose you ask her to have supper with us?"

Camilla gave a light laugh. "She won't accept—few several reasons. One is that opera singers have to avoid late suppers."

"Nonsense," scoffed Hartley. Sr. "Doris can afford to dispense. She's young."

His emphasis, directed at Camilla, made her wince.

The Cushings were, seating with excitement. Aunt Ada was even weeping softly.

Under cover of the general hubbub with the vast and fashionable audience filing out to promenade in the foyer during the long intermission, Camilla whispered meaningfully to Hartley:

"If you will, remember not to make a fool of yourself. Remember that a word from me will set your family straight about the honeymoon on the Riviera."

He jerked himself erect before the force of her threat. Was she really unscrupulous enough to use such means to hold him? He hated her in that moment.

And to-morrow she was to become his wife!

Ribbery got him back stage. He found himself in the doorway of a dressing room filled with flowers—roses, lilies, violets, and orchids—a perfect hothouse garden of them.

And Doris! Still, pretty, smiling, unspoiled. Her lovely, green eyes a little awed, as if she could scarcely comprehend all this magnificent triumph ready-made for her.

At the sight of him, she sprang to her feet. He had a moment's terrible suspicion that she was going to order him away. But to his joy, she rushed and held out her hands.

"How nice of you to come. I saw your—your box party. Are you going to congratulate me?"

"With all my heart," he crushed her slim, cool hand in both his hot palms. "Can you ever forgive me for everything?"

"Yes, I think so," she nodded gravely. "I suppose I ought to be no happy over my success that I should let bygones be bygones forever."

Her eyes, nevertheless, were shadowed. He felt that she was struggling to be happy against heavy odds.

She smiled up at him suddenly. To be continued.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Corn Checkers

Copyright, 1926, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Telephone for you, Uncle Wiggily!" called Nurse Jane Fussy Wussy to the rabbit gentleman who was asleep in his big arm chair the day after Thanksgiving.

"Telephone for me? I wonder who it is!" exclaimed the bunny, jumping up so quickly that he spilled Baby Bunty out of his lap and the small rabbit child fell to the floor ker bunko.

"Oh, excuse me, Baby Bunty!" said Uncle Wiggily. "I beg your pardon. I didn't know you were in my lap!"

"I did," answered the orphan bunny, for she had no folks of her own, living.

"Tut! Tut!" said Uncle Wiggily kindly, as he hurried to the bathroom to get a sponge to sop up Baby Bunty's tears. "You mustn't mind a little tumble like that. I didn't mean to let you fall!"

And then he put the sponge under Bunty's nose to catch the tears, and as the sponge was dry and hard it tickled

Let me scratch your back for you!" cried Baby Bunty.

ing around in turn with the other families in Woodland. "I knew I was there all the while. And I know I'm on the floor now, and—Oh, dear! Boo hoo! I'm so miserable!"

"Tut! Tut!" said Uncle Wiggily kindly, as he hurried to the bathroom to get a sponge to sop up Baby Bunty's tears. "You mustn't mind a little tumble like that. I didn't mean to let you fall!"

And then he put the sponge under Bunty's nose to catch the tears, and as the sponge was dry and hard it tickled

the little rabbit orphan and she had to laugh. Now it is very hard to laugh and cry at the same time, though some children try to do it.

And Bunty found it was easier to laugh than to cry, so she squeezed back her tears and then the telephone bell rang again.

"You may sit in my lap and I won't spill you out again, as soon as I see who wants me on the telephone," called Uncle Wiggily as he hopped across the room.

"You can't see anybody on the telephone," laughed Baby Bunty. "You can only hear them talk," and by that Uncle Wiggily knew she wasn't much hurt by tumbling out of his lap. So he laughed and Baby Bunty laughed and then the rabbit gentleman talked over the wire.

"What's that, Uncle Butter?" asked Mr. Longears. "You want me to hop over and play corn checkers with you?"

"All right—yes. I'll bring an ear of corn. And I'll bring Baby Bunty, too. I just dropped her out of my lap and her feelings are hurt. No! No! I didn't say I had lost my hat. I said I dropped Baby Bunty out of my lap! Yes, I'll be right over to play corn checkers with you!"

"Oh, goodie!" cried Baby Bunty, clapping her paws. "And I'm going with you!" for she heard what Uncle Wiggily said. And a little later the rabbit gentleman and the little orphan bunny child were hopping over the fields toward the goat house of Uncle Butter.

Mr. Longears shelled the corn kernels from the cob, and gave the cob to Baby Bunty to play doll with. Then, with a piece of Aunt Lettie's black and white plaid dress for a board, the two old gentlemen sat down to play checkers.

"This isn't much fun for me," thought Bunty after a while, during which neither Uncle Wiggily nor Uncle Butter had so much as looked at her. "They are too busy with their checkers. I'll take this cornob and go out to play. My, how rough the cob is!" thought Bunty as she tried to put it in her pocket. "It's like a turnip grater!"

Then, all of a sudden Uncle Wiggily gave a jump and a squirm and a twirl and a squinch.

"What's the matter?" bleated Uncle Butter. "Are you getting nervous like my wife, because I am beating you at corn checkers?"

"No," answered Mr. Longears, squirming harder than ever. "But I have an itchy place in the middle of my back and I can't reach it to give it a scratch. Oh, how it tickles!" and he tried, but with no luck to scratch his back on the chair.

"Oh, let me scratch your back for you!" cried Baby Bunty. "I have just the thing!" With that she took out the rough cornob and dropped it down Uncle Wiggily's back, inside his clothes, and right away his back stopped itching, for the cob scratched it properly.

"Baby Bunty is very clever!" bleated Uncle Butter.

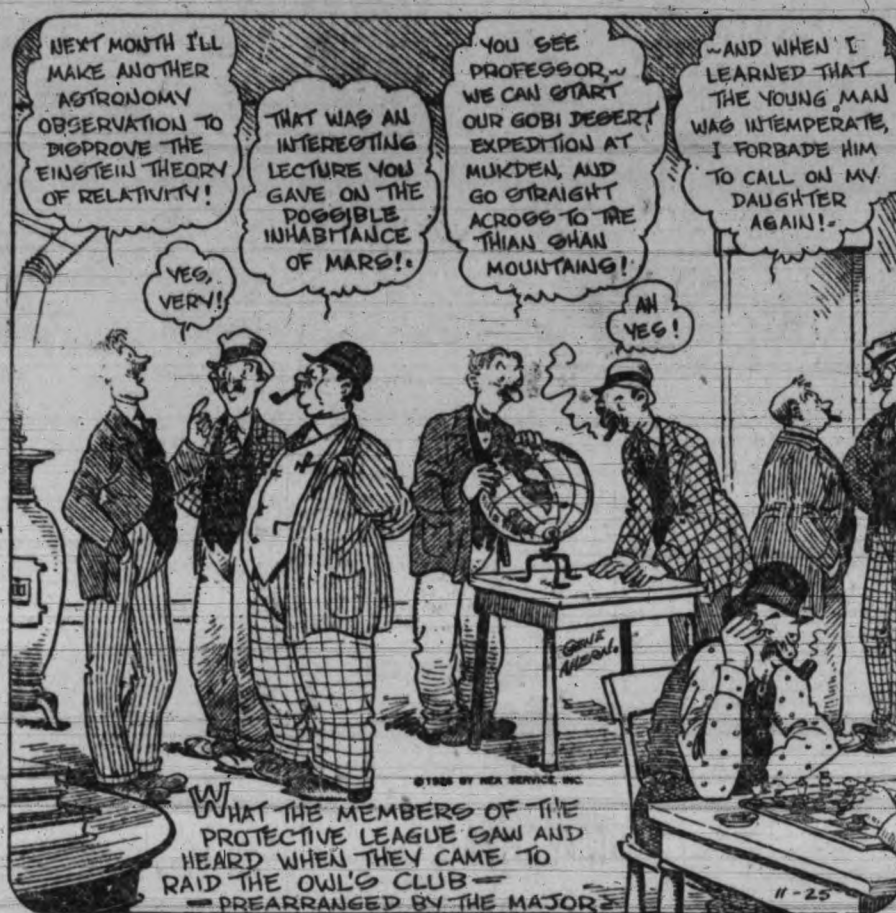

"Indeed she is," agreed Uncle Wiggily. Then they each gave her a penny and Bunty skipped out and bought a two-cent lollipop flavored like a cabbage, and very good it was. So Uncle Wiggily and the goat had time to finish playing corn checkers and each won a game. And if it doesn't get so dark that the looking glass can't see to put eyes on the face of the clock, there will be another story to-morrow night.

Smarter Than a Fox

There is a large, muscular, fox-faced animal, once abundant in our northern wildernesses, whom strangers to relate, few but naturalists can correctly name on sight. This is the wolverine, which Dr. Hornaday has called in his "One hundred per cent table" of intelligent animals. For all his sluggish movement and unusually appearance, there is no animal which can outwit a human more readily than the wolverine.

Observation of the wolverine by scientists tends to support the theory that there was a time, ages past, when it could run and leap with the agility of its brothers of the marten family. But time has evolved in this creature a strong distaste for hurry, and the desire to obtain by cunning and brute strength what formerly required skill and speed.

Like the bear, the wolverine's food consists of animals and insects, and so great is his appetite, and so sharp is he in stalking his prey, that he has rightly earned the name of "glutton."

The den of the wolverine is usually well hidden in a sheltered hollow in the ground, or under rocks. Nests of leaves are made, and the litter containing from two to four young, are born in June or July. Here they are kept until late in the summer, protected by their mother with all the ferocity of a mother bear. They are fully grown when one year old.

The full grown wolverine is about the size of a fox, but is very thick-set and muscular. The coat of both sexes is usually of a deep blackishbrown, with bands of chestnut running down the shoulders to the tail, and the throat and chest are spotted with yellowish white.

The wolverine is so hunted for his rich coat that he is well-nigh being wiped out of the continent. The skins find their way into civilized markets in spite of the fact that the Eskimos alone demand more than can be supplied. They greatly prize it for winter garments because, unlike other furs, breath does not congeal upon it, even in that cold atmosphere.

The giraffe is believed to exist for three-quarters of the year without water in North Kalahari.

In the cold desert in Kalashgar there are no reptiles, and not even a fly.

Before Texas was admitted to the Union, in 1846, she had the distinction of having possessed a nevay.

OUT OUR WAY

FARMERS "CO-OP" TO PAY DIVIDEND

Toronto, Nov. 25.—According to the annual statement of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company, issued to-day, the year ended September 30 last, was the best in the history of the organization since 1920. Total profits are given as $175,000, of which $60,000 will be available for a four per cent. stock dividend. There has been paid out $82,000 in commodity dividends to cream shippers and $30,000 to shippers to the egg pool. Along with the four per cent. dividend, declaration of which will have to be ratified by the annual meeting of the shareholders to be held in Toronto, December 14, there will be paid a three per cent. dividend, which was declared last year, but not paid because of the heavy expense involved in sending out a number of small cheques.

"The total volume of business this year," states general manager H. B.
Clemens, in a letter to the shareholders, "will amount to about $200-000,000 or considerably more than a year ago. We handled a good deal more grain, totalling more than 600 cars in all. A good deal of this was sold through the Canadian Wheat Pool."

Substantial progress is reported by the livestock department, one of the most important in the organization.
The number of cars of stock handled was 6,641 compared with 6,312 last year. This year's shipments were valued at more than $11,000,000, or more than $1,500,000 above the 1925 business. The creamery department reports the manufacture of 3,000,000 pounds of butter, 500,000 pounds more than in 1925.

At the annual meeting of shareholders the directors will propose reorganization so that the old deficit, incurred during the depression, will be wiped out.

The old shares, which were half paid up, will be recalled and new ones issued for the amount actually paid, if this plan is adopted.

Recent experiments show that ships with zinc bottoms never get fouled with barnacles.

Tobacco Imported Into Great Britain has increased from 49,669 tons in 1910 to $4,603 tons last year.

Canada exported more than $12-000,000 worth of furs during the year which ended in April, 1926.

Yesterday afternoon, after the formal opening by the Lieutenant-Governor, and this morning the Armories were thronged with people viewing the fine potato and seed displays. Practically everything is ready for the entertainment of visitors to the show and the show, but with its side-shows and attractions will be in operation this evening. Motion pictures in one of the side rooms of the building and a band concert every night by the Navy League Juvenile Prize Band are among the features.

IN AID OF SOLARIUM

All the contests being conducted are in aid of the Solarium Fund. At the opening yesterday, Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan of the Women's Institute, made a fine plea for contributions to the fund through the contests. She also expressed thanks to the firms who, by donations, had helped the ladies to serve luncheon in aid of the fund. These luncheons will be held every day during the show on the Bay Street gallery.

To-morrow judging competitions will be held. These are open to potato growers, high school pupils, public school pupils, boys and girls under eighteen years, and to farmers and seed-growers in British Columbia. These competitions have drawn a large number of entries and several cash prizes will be awarded. School pupils will be entered for experience, a number of them being interested in agricultural work through their studies.

Victoria Can Talk To Eastern Cities When New Line Open

Victoria will have a third long-distance telephone connection without relay to the Atlantic Coast when the Pacific Telephone Company completes the third link from ocean to ocean. This advantage will be gained without any capital expenditure.

The construction of the westernmost section of the new northern transcontinental telephone circuit is now being completed by a big crew on the slopes of the Cascade Mountains, and five other crews in Eastern Washington are keeping pace with the work.

The completed route runs through Seattle, across Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota, to Minneapolis and then Chicago, instead of by the present eastern connection through San Francisco or the original transcontinental circuit opened in 1915.

Persons in Victoria who might wish to talk to Chicago, New York, St. Paul and other big eastern cities will be able to get direct telephone connection. The new circuit has three separate connections.
